> Reason for Order Misunderstood. Throughout the War Department there is a feeling that the action of the War misunderstood throughout the country, and there is considerable concern maniested because of this belief. It is pointed ut that the three companies are being thrown out of the army because of the firm conviction of those in charge that, as a body, it is dangerous to allow them to remain

Acting Secretary of War Oliver said yesterday that the belief had become prevalent all over the country, that the mer were ordered discharged because they would not tell the names of those who were really guilty, and because they were black. This, Gen. Oliver said, is not precisely so, and the real reason for the drastic action was that the organizations Orders were issued yesterday in the had shown themselves to be dangerous. "It has been shown by the investigaions made by the War Departmet, that the companies concerned are dangerous to have in the service," said Gen. Oliver. If, on account of the feeling that they nad a grievance, as was the case in Brownsville, the same companies, or men men, and, as the official reports show, of April 30, 1860, at Burlington, N. Y.

Raincoats of Character

There are raincoats and raincoats.

We take it that it is only those of the better sort that you are interested in. The kind that will perform the service their name implies—the kind that will keep the wet out and the warmth in-the kind that look well and will wear well.

That's the only kind we

And men who ought to know say that somehow we succeed in putting more style into our Raincoats than others do.
